ANNUAL MEETING

The featured speaker at the annual meeting of the PBCLA will be C. Coburn Hardy. Mr. Hardy is well known to many members of the local library community for his numerous books on financial affairs and his appearances at library programs.

Mr. Hardy had an extensive career in Public Relations before settling in Palm Beach County in 1972. Even before leaving the corporate PR field Mr. Hardy had written books and magazine articles on personal finance, investing, the operation of the stock market and retirement planning.

Since coming to Florida he has conducted his own PR business and served extensively on government panels and as consultant to public agencies.

With his background he is sure to have pertinent insights on the state of library finances. Individuals who have heard Mr. Hardy give one of his programs know he is a speaker who is direct, witty and honest. His style is not to pull his punches. Members are sure to enjoy this presentation.

Following Mr. Hardy's talk there will be an extended social hour. There will be a chance to talk with him and also to mingle with other librarians.

Members are asked to attend and to bring a potential member.

QUOTATIONS

Judging by the response to the first annual PBCLA quotation contest in the last issue of the newsletter members are waiting eagerly for the continuation.

There will be eight quotations. Four were presented in the last newsletter and four are presented in this issue. As stated then "not all of them are in Bartlett, this is a contest" but they are all from current authors listed in BIP, and they are all prose.

Members will be asked to submit there proofs at the annual meeting and the one with the most correct will be crowned "Literate Librarian" and win a suitable prize.

For those who doubt the validity of the used quotation there will be a citation sheet available with the correct answers and sources.

LIBRARY RESOURCE

One of the many library resources in the country that go without use by the library community is the Temple Israel Library located in the Temple building at 100 West Fairview Drive, West Fairview.

The library, however, for the use of the congregation has many books in the field of Judaica. These include biographies, children's books, cookery, genealogy, and representative religion.

The library has an extensive reference section with special resources. Ms. Elaine, librarian, says the library is available for use by the general public with no reference work by phone and will circulate material to residents of the country.

MEMBERSHIP

All are reminded that it is membership renewal time. Membership in the PBCLA promotes professional growth of members; encourages cooperation among libraries and librarians; promotes the cause of libraries to the wider public; and, provides and encourages socialization.

The membership year runs from June 1 through May 31 of the succeeding year. Renewing membership is simply a matter of paying $5.00 dues to the PBCLA treasurer. This can be done in person at the meeting in May or by utilizing the membership form on the last page of this bulletin.

Members are also asked to participate in the activities of the organization. Doing this increases membership benefits and helps the group grow.

New members, and those who have not already received one can obtain a copy of the PBCLA directory at the annual meeting.
